"Gyaru is not only a fashion subculture, but a social movement that went up against the Japanese beauty standards of having dark hair and pale skin. Gyaru used over the top, glamorous fashion as a means to defy social expectations. I think that's part of what makes gal so special!

"For me, putting on my layers of pastels feels like putting on armor. I'm bright, shining and unstoppable! In my youth, I struggled with my identity and how I wanted to be perceived. I gravitated towards a harsher aesthetic. But as I got older, I found comfort in pastel colors. That helped heal that sad, angry kid in my heart. Life still has its hardships and challenges, but in my armor I feel strong!"

"Lolita for most people circles around femininity, but for me, it's more about exploring fashion possibilities. I'm an FTM, and I stopped wearing Lolita BECAUSE of the feminine aspects of the fashion. I went through a lot of self exploration, and after coming out, transitioning, and becoming comfortable in my body, I returned to the fashion with a fresh set of eyes."
